TWO HURT IN STREET FIGHT

BUTCHER AND YOUNG FARMER CLASH AT WHITESVILLE.

A QUARREL OVER BOAT

Charley Gibbs, 60, Stabs Harley Anderson; Latter Beats Older Man On Head With Rock.

Charley Gibbs, about 60, and Harley Anderson a young farmer, both are in a serious condition today at their respective homes in Whitesville, Andrew County, as the result of a fight in which they engaged yesterday.

Gibbs and Anderson had had a dispute over a boat, it was said by witnesses of the fight. Yesterday they met on the street in Whitesville and the quarrel was renewed, Gibbs appearing to be the aggressor. The fight followed.

Gibbs, it is declared, drew a knife, chisel or some other sharp instrument and stabbed Anderson several times on the arms and in the back. Anderson broke away and ran through the Spohn store, but Gibbs ran around the store and met him in the alley.

Cornored, the younger man is said to have succeeded in throwing Gibbs to the ground. Anderson then seized a rock and began to beat his older opponent about the head. Gibbs was badly beaten before bystanders intervened.

Both the combatants were unusually large men. Gibbs weighs 200 pounds or more and Anderson is six feet tall and large in proportion.

The two men were taken to their own homes, where the condition of both was reported this morning to be serious, with Anderson the more dangerously wounded.

Gibbs is a former miller and in the fall and winter does a butchering business.

No arrests had been made this afternoon.

Miss Yeo Hears From Relatives

Word has been received here by Miss Addie Yeo that her aunt, Mrs. T. E. Armstrong, Miss Clara Green, and Mrs. Blanche Weaver, who were in the hurricane which struck Miami, Fla., Saturday were uninjured. The telegram stated that the city was under martial patrol.

W. O. Manley, son of Mrs. J. M. Manley and father of Mrs. Ed Hamlin and Vern Manley of this city, lives at Clewiston, Fla., and has not been heard from. Clewiston is on Lake Okeechobee, and a dam is said to have broken, burying the town beneath ten feet of water.

Mr. Manley lived in Maryville until about ten years ago, when he moved to South Dakota. He went to Florida about three years ago and has been engaged in truck farming, a highly profitable accupation in Florida. With him are his wife and three children, one of whom is married.

Man's Body Found in Hazel Thicket

Glenn Booher, Burlington Junction, Lost From Home Last Night Found Dead Today.

After an unsuccessful search last night, the body of Glenn Booher, 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Booher, near Burlington Junction, was found about 11 o'clock this morning in a hazel thicket about a quarter of a mile north of the Booher home.

The young man, who was unmarried, left the house, about five miles east of Burlington Junction, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, saying he was going to gather hazel nuts. When he did not return last night, the family became alarmed and searched for him part of the night, until they decided he must have gone to a neighbor's to spend the night.

Mr. Booher is said to have been subject to epilepsy since childhood, and it is supposed he had one of these seizures.

He was born January 6, 1891, on the farm where he died and is survived by his parents and two brothers, Bruce Booher, Independence, Kan., and Fred Booher, Norton, Kan.

Dr. Frank Wallis, coroner, went to the farm this afternoon to view this body.

Mrs. Mary Park has returned from a visit with relatives near Rosendale and Savannah.

Barber Indicted by Federal Grand Jury

Former Burlington Junction Banker, Now in Penintentiary, Charged With Forgery on Liberty Bond.

The federal grand jury at St. Joseph yesterday returned an indictment against Robert N. Barber, former Burlington Junction banker, charging him with forging an indorsement in transferring a Liberty bond. A capias was ordered for Barber, who is at present serving a sentence of ten years in the Missouri state penintentiary upon conviction in connection with forgeries and embezzlements while cashier of the Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction.

SOCIETIES IN MEETING

ACTIVITIES AT HIGH SCHOOL ARE WELL UNDER WAY.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Maryvillian Literary Society Selects Leland Smith as Its President Programs of Meetings.

Several literary societies of the Maryville High School and a history organization met this morning at the activity hour.

The following program was given by the Zeta Sigma Literary Society sponsored by Mrs. Virgil Rathbun:

"Henry Ward Beecher," by Mildred Bailey.

"I Owe What I Am to Women," Alice Nielson, by Mildred Bailey.

"Zeta Sigma Chronicle," by Charmion Murray, Virginia Wright, Doris Wallace, Virginia Braun, Mildred Wiles.

The program given by the History Club, sponsored by Miss Bertha Northcutt, was as follows:

"Some of Our Great Men," by Ora Petty.

"Life of Gene Stratton-Porter," by Carmileta Beatty.

"Life of Theodore Roosevelt," by Edgar Russell.

"Science," by Glenn Litsch.

A letter was received by the club from Paul Diss, a former member, now in the United States navy, and located at San Pedro. A card also was received from Earl Dorman, in naval service and stationed at New York City.

At the meeting of the Elizabethan Literary Society, sponsored by Miss Mabel Messick, the member told stories and jokes. Miss Birdie Lemaster was selected as the member to keep a memory book for the society.

Laura Jean Murdock was elected as vice-president of the beginning freshmen girls literary society. Virginia Bennett was chosen as sergeant-at-arms. Miss Augusta Quell is the sponsor.

The following was the order of their program:

Piano duet, Margaret Knox, Shirley Bennett; reading, Mildred Jensen; vocal solo, Virginia Bennett; piano solos, Laura Jean Murdock.

The Maryvillian Literary Society, sponsored by Hugh Graham, elected officers at its meeting today. They are:

President, Leland Smith; vice president, Junior Curnutt; secretary and treasurer, Junior Stanfield; club reporter, Charley Phipps.

The Maryvillian Literary Society has been divided into two groups, owing to the large number of boys who have joined. The second group will be organized and meet every Wednesday under the sponsorship of C. W. Croy.

Property at Grant and Buchanan Sold

Lot 4 in block 20, Torrance's addition to Maryville, part of the estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. James M. Wilson, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Byron L. Wray for $1,700, according to a warranty deed filed today with Mrs. Mamie Clardy, county recorder.

The transfer was made on August 25 and the other parties were Gertrude Blair, Edna Wilson, Sadie Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Leid M. Wilson, heirs of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Wilson. Mrs. Wray, formerly Dorothy E. Wilson, was the only other heir.

The property is at the northeast corner of Buchanan and Grant streets.

Guests at McNeal Home.

Ed Johnson of Wolfcrate, Mont., Mrs. S. J. Pinnell and son, Lambert, of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. C. E. Head of Omaha are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNeal.

SHOULD WATCH SICK ANIMALS

PRECAUTIONS MUST BE USED TO AVOID RABIES.

SYMPTOMS OF DISEASE

Connecticut State Department of Health Offers Information Concerning Dreaded Disease.

Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer, working with city officials is now interested in preventing a mad-dog scare and an epidemic of rabies since the brain of a dead animal examined a few days ago showed that its death had been caused by rabies.

"The Connecticut State Department of Health has sent out the following article on Rabies," Dr. Fryer said. "It is because of its importance that I have asked that it be reproduced."

The article follows:

". . . . . If it is important to prevent rabies among dogs, it is all the more important to prevent rabies among humans. As rabies is always fatal when symptoms of the disease once develop, protection against it must be by prevention. There is no hope of curing the disease when it occurs.

"Beware of Stray Dogs. Certain precautions should be taken to avoid exposure to rabies. One is, to beware of stray dogs. Rabid dogs wander away from home during the excited stage of the disease and often travel for long distances. A stray dog that appears in the neighborhood may be a rabid dog during the excited stage when it is most dangerous. Stray dogs should be impounded in some safe place where they have proper care until their owners can be located.

"Do Not Fondle Sick Animals. Another precaution would be not to fondle sick animals. When it is necessary to handle sick dogs or other animals where rabies may be suspected gloves should be worn to protect the hands from the animal's saliva. Many persons are exposed to rabies by getting saliva on their hands without being bitten. The virus is present in the saliva and may enter the body through a cut or abrasion.

"Pen Up Sick Animals. A sick dog should be penned up and watched for further symptoms. If the dog really has rabies, symptoms will soon develop so that a veterinarian will have little trouble in making a diagnosis. When the dog is killed at once upon suspicion of the disease it may be too early to find laboratory evidence of rabies. In that case a negative report would give a false sense of security. Upon penning up a sick dog, the health officer and dog warden should be notified.

"Take Anti-Rabic Treatment. Any person bitten by a rabid dog or exposed to rabies by handling the dog, should take anti-rabic (Pastuer) treatment. If certain as to whether or not the dog actually has rabies, the animal may be penned up for ten days' observation. Failure of the dog to show evidence of rabies within ten days shows that he did not have it at the start. If the wounds made by a dog bite are about the face or head, treatment should begin at once in case rabies is suspected.

". . . . . CLEANSING AND CAUTERIZING THE WOUND DOES NOT REMOVE THE NECESSITY OF TAKING THE ANTI-RABIC (PASTEUR) TREATMENT TO PREVENT RABIES. . . . . THE ONLY SAFE TREATMENT AFTER BEING BITTEN BY A RABID ANIMAL OR OTHER ANIMAL SUSPECTED OF BEING RABID, IS TO TAKE THE PASTEUR ANTI-RABIC TREATMENT.

"Disinfection of Premises After Rabies. The virus of rabies is known to be present in the saliva, urine and milk of infected animals. Thus any of these secretions may distribute rabic virus. This would probably be destroyed by drying at room temperature for a week or two, or for a shorter time in direct sunlight. . . . If it is desired to use a disinfectant, five per cent formalin is probably as good as any liquid preparation readily available. Fumigation is not advised. Greater dependence should be placed upon mechanical cleansing with hot water and soap than upon the use of any disinfectant.

"Vaccination of Dogs. Dogs may be protected from rabies by innoculation with anti-rabic virus. Dog owners are advised to see their veterinarians and have this treatment given."

Mr. and Mrs. William Treese announce the birth of a son Friday, Sept. 17. The baby has been named William Dean.

Wabash Trains to Go Through Tomorrow?

If No More Rains Fall, Track East of Chillicothe May Be Put Back In Service.

Through traffic on the Wabash may be resumed tomorrow, it was indicated today, unless more rain should fall to cause the streams east of Chillicothe to rise again. According to R. M. Barry at the Wabash station, there is nothing certain about through traffic tomorrow but there is at least a "slight possibility."

Reports received here state there was seventeen inches of water over the track at Sumner and also west of Whitham, while there was eight inches of water over the track at Swan Lake, near Sumner. The reports say the track was not damaged at these places but it was not advisable to run trains over these stretches.

Passenger train No. 12 this morning will go as far as Chillicothe and will return as No. 3 this evening.

A WHITE WAY ON 2D STREET

CABLE IS LAID FOR EXTENSION OF ONE BLOCK.

NEW STANDARDS USED

Six Poles With Single Lamps to Be Erected—Water Main Extended on College Avenue.

Maryville's "white way" is growing.

Workmen finished the laying of cable yesterday for six additional standards in the block of Second street between Main and Buchanan. Three standards will be placed on each side of the street.

The standards will be topped with a single lamp and will be similar to those placed in the boulevard project at the intersection of Fourth and Dunn streets.

The property owners in the block pay for the standards and their installation, the city will pay for the current used, and the Maryville Electric Light and Power Co. will maintain the system.

Another city improvement now in progress is the extension of a four-inch water main west on College avenue. For the present it will be extended only a short distance beyond the entrance to the College drive, but later it probably will be carried further. A fire plug will be placed at the end of the present extension to provide more adequate fire protection for the homes in this rapidly developing section.

Veterinarian Urges Vaccination of Dogs

Dr. K. Sears, Who Had Rabid Dog's Head Examined, Says Precautions Should Be Taken.

Veterinarians today are busy vaccinating small animals against rabies after it was made known yesterday that a dog had died of that disease here several days ago. Dr. K. Sears, veterinarian, Tuesday afternoon turned over a telegram and letter to Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer, in which a report was given that a small French poodle, whose head had been examined in a Kansas City laboratory, had died of rabies.

Dr. Sears treated four dogs with rabies vaccine this morning and it is expected that other dogs will be taken to veterinarians at once that they may be protected against such a disease.

It is hoped that no epidemic of rabies will develop although it is known that the animal which bit the poodle is yet at large, unless it has since died.

Doctor Sears today urged all dog owners to watch their animals closely for symptoms of rabies and warned others to be careful about handling cats or dogs.

Engagement of Belgian Prince Is Announced

Brussels, Sept. 21.—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth today formally announced the engagement of their son, Prince Leopold, to Princess Astrid of Sweden.

N. Mex. Visitors Leave.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Holt and daughter of Albuquarque, N. Mex., who have been visiting Mr. Holt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Holt, for two weeks, left this morning for their home.

MUST ACCEPT RESERVATIONS

COURT TERMS NOT AGREEABLE WITH U. S.

DISPUTE OVER NO. 5

Consent of America Must Be Given Before Court Can Render Opinion On U. S. Problem.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The terms laid down by the powers at Geneva by which the United States may come into the world court are not acceptable to this government, it was learned today.

The hitch is over the much-discussed Senate reservation No. 5, which provides that the court may not render an advisory opinion on any question in which the United States has an interest or claims an interest without the specific consent of the United States being given.

The powers couldn't agree to that and they compromised by adopting a general resolution to the effect that the United States could come into the court on the same footing and with the same privileges as members of the League of Nations. At the same time, the powers admitted that it has never been determined whether it is necessary to have a unanimous vote to obtain an advisory op inion from the court.

The White House spokesman reiterated today that the American reservations are perfectly clear and that this government will not sanction any amendments or interpretations by foreign powers.

If the United States is accepted by the court, it must be accepted under the conditions laid down in the fifth Senate reservation, the presidential spokesman declared.

Cardinals Fail to Gain on Cincinnati

Both National League Leaders Are Defeated By Tail-Enders.— Cards' Late Rally Short.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | 87 | 63 | .580 |
| Cincinnati | 85 | 65 | .567 |

New York, Sept. 21.—The Cardinals of St. Louis passed up a good chance today to sew up the National League pennant race when they dropped a close baseball game to Brooklyn, the "joke" team of the league.

Until the last half of the eighth inning, the Hornsboys led by a 1-0 score, and the scoreboard already had registered the third successive defeat of the Cincinnati Reds by the Boston Braves.

In that last half of the eighth Brooklyn filled the bases off Sherdel with two singles and the pitcher's own error. Alexander then replaced Sherdel, and Max Carey, cast-off of the Pittsburgh Pirates, singled in two runs. Alexander passed the next batter and another single brought over two more runs.

The Cards made a game stand in their last inning, when Southworth scored on Hornsby's double and the manager scored a moment later on an error. The rally, however, ended one run shy.

Jess Petty pitched the victory for Brooklyn. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

Had the Cardinals won today while Cincinnati was losing, the St. Louisans could not have failed to win the pennant unless they lost all their remaining games and the Reds won all theirs, including the final contest between the two in the last game of the season.

St. Louis plays again at Brooklyn tomorrow, and the Reds will be idle. Thursday Cincinnati will begin a three-game series with Philadelphia and the Cardinals will be idle until Friday and Saturday, when they will play two more with New York.

Boston, Sept. 21.—The Boston Braves threw another monkey wrench into the National League pennant machinery this afternoon when they handed a third straight defeat to Cincinnati. The score:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Boston | 4 | 10 | 1 |
| Cincinnati | 0 | 8 | 0 |

Weaver Funeral Is Held at Pickering

Funeral services were held in the Methodist Church at Pickering this afternoon for James Weaver, a former resident of the Pickering community, who died at Melvern, Kan. Burial was made in White Oak cemetery.

Two Are Injured in Army Airplane Crash

Plane Has Engine Trouble, Crashes And Bursts Into Flames.—Officer Has Narrow Escape.

London, Sept. 21.—Two American ambassy attaches were injured today when a United States army airplane in which they were flying experienced engine trouble, crashed and burst into flames. They were Capt. C. L. Tinker of Oklahoma, assistant military attache, and Lieut.-Com. R. A. Burg of Nebraska, assistant naval attache.

Burg suffered three broken ribs and was rather badly burned. Tinker escaped with injuries to his face. But for Tinker, Burg probably would have been burned to death.

TWO DEAD IN PLANE WRECK

NON-STOP FLIGHT TO PARIS ENDS IN TRAGEDY.

SHIP FAILS TO RISE

Bursts Into Flames And Wireless Operator And Mechanic Are Trapped —Captain Escapes.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Capt. Rene Fonck's proposed non-stop flight to Paris ended in grim tragedy here early today when the giant Sikorsky biplane in which the flight was to have been made burst into flames at the hop-off, causing two fatalities.

Captain Fonck and his co-pilot, Lieut. Lawrence W. Curtin, U. S. N., escaped with their lives, but Charles Clavier, wireless operator, and Jack Islamoff, mechanic, were fatally burned in the accident. Fonck and Curtin, sitting in the control in the nose of the plane, were saved when the ship, failing to clear the ground after scooting a mile along the runway, fell into a deep gully. They were thrown out and suffered only a few minor cuts.

Clavier and Islamoff, hwever, were trapped in the burning plane.

The plane started to make its take-off run about 6:30 a. m., and the accident occurred a few seconds later. With the right side of the running gear dragging on the ground, the plane ran off the end of the runway, struck a gully, turned slowly over on its back and caught fire.

Fonck and Curtin managed to get out as the plane was turning over. Collapse of the right landing gear while the plane was rushing across the mile-long take-off pit to gain momentum for the rise into the air caused the accident.

The adventurers had hoped to reach Paris sometime tomorrow evening. If they had succeeded, they would have flown 3,577 miles, a new world's record for non-stop flights. Lloyds of London had posted odds of 7 to 3 that they would not succeed.

Mrs. Mary Dickerson, Long An Invalid, Dies

Pneumonia Proves Fatal After Paralysis Four Years Ago.—Funeral Thursday Afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Dickerson, 83 years old, wife of J. D. Dickerson, died at 8 o'clock this morning at the family home, 302 East Sixth street. Mrs. Dickerson sustained a stroke of paralysis four years ago last June and had been an invalid since. Her condition took a turn for the worse about 9 o'clock last night with the development of pneumonia.

The funeral will be held at the First Methodist Church at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon conducted by the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, pastor of the Christian Church. Burial will be in Miriam cemetery.

Mary Harrop was born in Ohio, Feb. 19, 1843. Her home had been in Nodaway County for the last thirty-nine years. With the exception of a four years' residence north of Burlington Junction, the family had lived near and in Maryville.

Besides her husband she is survived by three stepchildren, Mrs. C. M. Hartness of Maryville, Mrs. George Stevenson of Skidmore and Thurman Dickerson of Butler, Mo., Mrs. Dickerson was the last member of her family.

MIDDLE WEST GETS WARNING

STORM SWEEPING OUT OF THE DAKOTAS BUREAU SAYS.

HURRICANE LOSS BIG

Windstorms Which Swept Over Florida Also Hits Alabama—Barometers Falling Again.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Storm warnings for the entire Middle West were broadcast from the United States weather bureau here today, as violent wind and electrical disturbances swept eastward out of the Dakotas.

The barometers in the storm area have fallen a half-inch in the last twelve hours and are now at a lower point than they reached in Florida during the hurricane, the weather bureau declared.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 21.—Not content with the death and destruction which it wrought in southern Florida all during Sunday and Monday, the West Indies hurricane today continued its wrathful march inland from the Gulf of Mexico, laying waste sections of northwestern Florida, southern Alabama and Louisiana.

Damage here and in Pensacola, Fla., probably will total a million dollars or more, it is believed. No loss of life in Mobile had been reported early today, however.

A radio report stated that the towns of Seminole and Lillian, Ala., had been wrecked with the loss of ten or a dozen lives.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 21.—Tremendous damage has been done by the tropical hurricane at Pensacola, according to the first message reaching the world from that city.

New Orleans, Sept. 21.—Mobile has escaped heavy damage from the tropical hurricane and there was no loss of life, according to word received from there today. The weather bureau announced the tropical storm is over in southeastern Alabama.

No reports have been received from Mobile or Pensacola and both cities are still cut off from the outside world. Lillian and Seminol, two small coastal towns between Mobile and Pensacola, were reported wiped out with considerable loss of life and property, the radio operator said.

Wind velocity along the Gulf coast continues high.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The death toll at Miami will not exceed one hundred, according to a wireless dispatch received here today by the navy department from the district commandent at Key West, Fla.

The acting mayor and city manager of Miami today issued an official statement to the effect that property damage would total more than 125 million dollars. There is plenty of food in the city to take care of every needy person but money donations will be gladly accepted, it is reported.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The nation has responded generously to President Coolidge's appeal for funds for relief of Florida's hurricane sufferers, the Red Cross announced today. Within twenty-four hours, the Red Cross, in charge of relief work, has secured donations amounting to $743,000.

Col. Forbes Refused Parole at Leavenworth

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 21.—Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States veterans bureau and an inmate of the federal prison here since last March, was refused a parole at the session of the parole board which came to a close today, it was learned here. Forbes' case was one of the 497 before the board. He is serving a two-year sentence in connection with defrauding the government in the letting of contracts for the building of soldiers' hospitals.

Mrs. Charles Brown and son, Norris, and Mrs. Mary Garnett of Skidmore were Maryville visitors today.

Mining Congress in Annual Convention

Sessions Open At Denver—To Discuss Public Land and Mineral Development Policies.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 21.—The annual convention of the Western Division of the American Mining Congress opened here yesterday to discuss relation of government public land policies to mineral development.

Secretary of Interior Hubert Work told the delegates that piece-meal legislation covering mining on public lands, leasing of coal, potash, and kindred material, together with oil and oil shale or grazing on public domain, will meet the situation without embarrassing administration.

"But these matters should all be comprehensively considered at the same time and a comprehending policy defined so that the different activities should not be thrown in conflict with each other by special legislation enacted in their interests," Work said.

Commissioner William Spry of the General Land Office, will address the convention, outlining the government's policy regarding the administration of Public Domain. W. B. Greeley, chief U. S. Forester, will discuss "Mining in National Forests," and F. L. Hess, Bureau of Mines, will speak on "Rare Minerals."

Other speakers will include Representative C. E. Winter, Wyoming; J. V. Howell, Colorado; George Otis Smith, Geological Survey, and A. G. Mackenzie, Salt Lake City.

Sedalia—The Missouri State Fair Board has voted to construct a new $60,000 administration building, near the women's building. The structure will be three stories and will of brick and stone.

Lebanon—Application is to be made to the Public Service Commission for reduced electric rates for Lebanon.

Stewart's Washington Letter

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—Virginia's resources in the form of national shrines appear to be absolutely inexhaustible.

It makes the most of them, too. They draw tourists.

A single shrine's appeal is limited. It has to compete with other shrines. But in Virginia a tourist can keep on traveling for a month, at the rate of at least a shrine a day, and sometimes a whole cluster no more than an hour or two of flivvering apart.

Other states with good shrines don't develop them as they should. Virginia cultivates them for all they're worth—which is a great, great deal.

The Walter Reed Memorial Association is about to contribute a new one—the house in which Dr. Walter Reed, conqueror of yellow fever, was born, in Glochester county, Sept. 13, 1851.

Well, Dr. Reed has a shrine coming to him, if medical man ever did.

By proving that mosquitoes were responsible for the spreading of the dreaded yellow jack, he not only save countless thousands of lives, but reclaimed for settlement vast areas which had been practically uninhabitable, because of the disease.

The Panama canal probably never could have been finished, such were the fever's ravages among the workers, until he stamped it out.

The old Reed homestead has been abandoned for years.

The Memorial Association has obtained an option on it and will take it over shortly, restore it and fill it with mementoes of one of the greatest surgeons who ever lived.

Other shrines are all about it—Yorktown, where Cornwallis surrendered; Jamestown, where the first permanent English settlement in America was established; Williamsburg, the old colonial capital of the state.

Two Negro Convicts Escape From Quarry

Jefferson City, Sept. 21.—Charles Davis and Sam Johnson, trusty negro convicts serving five years each, last night escaped from the prison rock quarry near Columbia. Davis was sentenced from Jackson County for burglary and Johnson from Dunklin County for larceny.

Bloomfield—Plans for a new $80,000 high school to be erected next year are under consideration.

for foods without flavor

THE art of making meals attractive is in serving flavory foods.

In breakfast oats, see that you get the Quaker brand. The difference in flavor is amazing.

Some 50 years were spent perfecting Quaker flavor. No other oats offers it to you. Yet the price you pay is the same.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Protein, carbohydrates and vitamines and "bulk" are thus combined in making Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Makes the richest breakfast now the quickest.

This Tower Now Leans 20 Degrees

The 130-mile-an-hour hurricane that hit Miami and caused a huge loss of life bent over this beautiful tower at an angle of 20 degrees. The building is the plant of the Miami Daily News, owned by James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for president in 1920. It is one of the finest newspaper buildings in the country. A large beacon burned in the tower as an aid to ocean navigation.

It's a hard life. Soon the people who have been going north to keep cool will have to go south again to keep warm.

Perry—In the hope of stimulating interest in school work, it has been decided to hold a rural school fair here Oct. 22 and 23.

The proposed coal mining measure indicates someone has been doing some deep thinking.

Candidates straddle issues to keep their knees from knocking.

Even though your neighbor may pretend he is it, there is only one billionaire in this country.

Note to prohibition authorities: Recent figures show there are 11,000 millionaires in the United States.

Weekly attendance at movies is 90 million, which is a lot of dirty dishes in the sink.

The geese are flying south for the winter. Some of them are desperate drivers.

A salesman has to strike a man right to make a hit.

When it comes to getting there perspiration beats inspiration.

The time to keep cool over the coal situation is past. We must warm up to it before long.

Service Must Go On

HAVE YOU ever thought how much you depend upon your friend, the telephone lineman?

Unmindful of his personal comfort, he works long hours if need be, in all sorts of weather, that the telephone may be constantly at your command.

His job is to keep the wires in working order. "Whatever happens, service must go on" is the guiding rule of the telephone lineman. He plays an important part in our effort to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost to the public.

Goodman Sentenced to Federal Prison

Judge Merrill Otis Gives Bank Embezzler Four Year Sentence—Is Known In Maryville.

M. Jay Goodman, twenty-nine years old, of St. Joseph, was sentenced to serve four years in federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., by Judge Merrill E. Otis in federal court yesterday after he had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of embezzling $13,000 from the Tootle-Lacy bank, where he was employed as bookkeeper. Goodman is well known in Maryville, having been a former student at the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

Judge Otis, in sentencing the bookkeeper, said:

"I know Mr. Goodman, though not intimately, and I am very sorry. But there is only one path to walk in the world and that is the path of duty. I have nothing more to say."

Goodman was given permission to visit his wife and 5-year-old child before being taken to prison.

The maximum sentence which could have been imposed on him was 40 years imprisonment. Since the time of his arrest in August 200 counts have been filed against him. He had been employed in the bank for more than seven years.

Many Maryville persons are well acquainted with Goodman, his last visit in this city being July 30 at which time he sang with the Moila Temple Shrine quartet at the dedication of the Masonic Hall. He also sang several solos that night.

Oscar Mowry of Graham left yesterday on a business trip to Brush, Colo.

Postal Card, Cut to Pieces by Train, Gets There Anyway

The efficiency of Uncle Sam's postal service was demonstrated today when a small remnant of a postal card was returned to the Miller Shoe Co. here after having been run over and cut to bits.

Although the remnant contained only a corner of the address, it had been delivered to the concern for which it was intended, one in Stoneham, Mass.

The card left Maryville on September 12. All that was left of the address read like this:

ee's Sons,
tenham
Mass.

To make the puzzle more difficult, the "h" might have been read as a "k" and the "a's" looked like "e's."

From this scant clew, the postal authorities decided that the card had been addressed to J. J. Grover's Sons Company of Stoneham, Mass. That company found on the back of the remnant:

Shoe Co.
Maryville,
Mo.
Sept. 12-26.

The company then had only to look over its list of clients to find with which Maryville shoe store it did business, and the piece of the card was returned with a request that its order or information be repeated. The accompanying letter said only that "the card was in a mail sack that was run over by a train and was delivered to us in this condition."

Charley Martin Trys to Stop a Runaway Auto

Twenty years ago, a man who stopped a runaway horse was somewhat of a hero.

Today, a man, Charley Martin, stopped a runaway car but as yet has not received a Carnegie medal.

A car owned by Roy Parent, who lives northeast of Maryville, was parked near the Platter store on North Main street. It was parked facing south. In some manner, the brakes became released and the auto started backing down Main street.

Charley saw the car without an occupant. He jumped into it and attempted to set the brakes. By this time, the car was nearing the Barmann garage and before Charley could stop it, it had bumped into a Ford owned by Harry Jones. The Jones car was parked by the garage and a rear wheel was slightly damaged.

U. S. Won't Interfere in Thursday's Fight

Washington, Sept. 21.—The federal government will not interfere with the Dempsey-Tunney fight to be held at Philadelphia Thursday night, it was learned today. A ministerial protest against the battle was filed with President Coolidge and referred to Secretaries Hoover and Kellogg, federal commissioners of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition.

"The government has not the remotest control over the fight unless an attempt would be made to stage the affair in the government exhibition building," Hoover said.

Chinese General Has Returned 2 Steamers

London, Sept. 21.—General Yang Sen has returned the two British steamers Wanhsien and Wantung which were seized a fortnight ago on the Yangtze River, a British official wireless message announced today.

The circumstances of the seizure and the events leading up to it are to be examined.

Judge Sayler Aids Cupid; Marries His Best Dressed Pair

Judge J. H. Sayler played first assistant to Cupid about closing time at the courthouse yesterday, when he noticed a couple trying the locked door of the county clerk's office. Judge Sayler took one look and decided that instead of the county clerk they wanted the county recorder, who issues marriage licenses.

The couple, David Neally and Claudia Holland, both of Clarinda, readily admitted their aim. The recorder's office also was locked, but Judge Sayler prevailed upon L. P. Colvin, deputy recorder, to come back and make out the permit.

Judge Sayler then was called upon to perform the ceremony, but there was a temporary hitch when the bride announced that she must change into bridal finery. This done, the marriage took place in Judge Sayler's office at 6:30 p. m.

"When she came back she was dressed fit to kill," Judge Sayler said of the bride. "Yes, they were the finest dressed couple I have married."

Glen Reece to Head Red Cross Roll Call

Will Be Held In Nodaway County From Armistice Day To Thanksgiving—To Announce Committees Soon.

Announcement has just been made of the appointment of Glen Reece, as the local director of the tenth annual Red Cross Roll Call which will be held in this county and all over the United States beginning Armistice Day, November 11, and ending Thanksgiving Day, November 25.

Mr. Reece's appointment was made at a meeting of the Chapter Executive Committee on September 16 and he has just accepted. In announcing his acceptance he said he knows the campaign will succeed if the entire community will co-operate as it always does in enterprises which are for the country's good.

"The roll call period is the one time each year when every citizen of the United States is given an opportunity to subscribe to the principals of humanity and service for which the Red Cross stands, by becoming a member," said Mr. Reece.

"The Red Cross recognizes neither creed, race nor color. Its arms are strong with constant use. Its hand is gentle from ministering to suffering. It is the one organization in the United States able and ready to give relief in time of disaster and to assist the government in the post war soldier problem. Its other activities are as necessary, and its sole purpose is to serve. Every member of the county is eligible to membership and everyone should enroll."

Mr. Reece will announce the subchairman and the team captains as well as other personnel of his organization as soon as he has made the appointments.

Judges Back After Inspecting Bridges

200-Foot Span Left on Dry Land By Change in Nebraska Stream May Be Brought Here.

Judges E.T. Bailey and Charles Armstrong, members of the County Court, returned this morning from points in Nebraska, where they inspected bridges and gained information which they hope to apply in solving the bridge problem created for Nodaway county by recent high waters.

North of Arlington, Neb., the judges viewed a 200-foot bridge, erected over a stream which since has changed its course and no longer in use because the road has been closed. The bridge is only four years old and had had practically no use, it was stated, when the stream changed its course. The owners of the bridge suggest that it be used over the Platte river at Guilford, declaring that they can make a better price than on the new 180-foot span which the court had decided upon for that point.

Judges Bailey and Armstrong were taken as far as Fremont, Neb., to inspect other bridges of the joist type, for which a number of advantages are claimed. There are no transverse joist bridges in the county now, according to Judge Armstrong, but four have been ordered.

The chief difference in this type of bridge is that the floor boards are laid lengthwise. It is claimed that there is less wear upon the boards, and when they do become worn, only those in the most traveled part of the bridge floor need to be replaced.

Clean Living a Boost for Gene Tunney; Friends Hope He Wins

The following appreciation of Gene Tunney, challenger for the world's heavyweight boxing title, was written by Townsend Godsey, a member of the Democrat-Forum staff, who met Tunney while the latter was vacationing and also training in Florida.

Should Gene Tunney be successful in his efforts to wrest the world's championship heavyweight boxing title from its present holder it would be a splendid example for the young athletes of this country. Whether Tunney wins or loses, the 130,000 fistic fans expected to be in the Centennial Stadium in Philadelphia Thursday night will see, when Tunney steps into the ring, one of the country's most outstanding illustrations of clean living.

Not that any reflections on the habits of Jack Dempsey are meant but those persons who know Tunney, have observed his manner of living and have watched him work out do know something of what stuff the title contender is made.

Tunney is not exactly the effeminate thing some writers have tried to paint him, but he is a gentleman. He conducts himself in a most pleasing manner and while he has little to do with his many women admirers he is courteous toward them, even when their presence is not particularly desirable.

He is attributed to be a user of big words and all that bologna, but while he does speak clearly and in excellent English that would make many of our college boys ashamed of themselves, he does not try to appear high-brow by giving vent to monstrous words. In speaking to his sparring partners and arranging work-outs his conversation is as interesting as that of a school boy arranging for his first date.

While not addicted to the use of slang, a thing usually associated with the prize ring, his conversation may include a slight slip and the presence, once in a while, of "the stiff" or "mug". But it is those few breaks that give just the right color to his conversation.

Tunney likes his golf and last winter while training in Florida, he spent much of his time on the Miami, Miami Beach and Golf Park courses with Gene Sarazen. The two would leave their rooms at the Wofford Hotel on Miami Beach early each morning and remain on one of the many golf courses the first part of the day. Tunney's afternoons were spent in scrapping with his sparring partners, his evening at this place or that and his nights—in bed.

Tickets for the ringside at a big bout are not the easiest thing in the world to secure but "One Eye" Connelley, world's champion gate crasher, wanter to see Tunney in the ring against Stribling. He went to Miami and by some means, and "One Eye" has plenty of them, he like numerous others of us got ducats which called for ringside seats.

Tunney wanted the fight. So did Stribling. The managers wanted it too, but when the amount due the fighters had not been raised the scrap was called off. It was called on again and then Miami had to admit that money was not so free as it had been before the horse racing season, and it was called off again. This time for final.

Many of Tunney's friends, and he makes them quickly and effectively, had wanted to see that scrap and the thousands of Georgia "crackers" in that city also wanted to see their boy Stribling. The scrap didn't come off and one of the most depressed fellow observed at that time was "One Eye" Connolly, who went to the regetta and slept and moped under a hot sun on the photographers' barge, disappointed that he didn't get to see his friend Gene perform.

Tunney trains consistantly and vigorously and his hours are regular. Because of his manner of clean living, his right thinking and his already note-worthy athletic accomplishments it would be for the best interest of the youngsters who are bout fans that Tunney be the holder of a world's championship crown.

Announce Program for American Legion Meet

Military Circus, Big Parade and Air Carnivals to Feature National Convention at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—A military circus, the mammoth Legion parade, air carnivals, the junior world's championship baseball series, football and lacrosse will combine with the Sesqui-Centennial exposition as the entertainment program for the 100,000 legionnaires and their families who will attend the eighth annual American Legion Convention in Philadelphia October 11-15.

Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Judge K. M. Landis, Admiral Coontz, and Major General Lejeune, Commandant of the Marine Corps, have been announced as the principal speakers who have accepted invitations to attend.

The parade, one of the principal events of the convention, will be held Tuesday afternoon, October 12. In this gigantic observance of Columbus Day, 75,000 legionnaires from 48 states and three foreign countries will take part. The parade, which will require five hours to pass in review, will march from city Hall Plaza, down Broad Street to the Sesqui Centennial Exposition grounds and into the Sesqui Stadium, where high ranking military and naval officers, with Vice President Dawes and John R. McQuigg, national commander, will review the marches.

Eight thousand members of the Ladies Euxiliary of the Legion, and 14,000 members of the "40 and 8" Society will conduct their conventions in conjunction with the Legion's session. Arriving delegates will be greeted at trains by 150 girls garbed as Quaker Maids and a dozen "William Penns", who under the convention committee here, will conduct the visitors to their designated quarters.

Soda Water Drinking Has Increased in U. S.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The United States has increased its consumption of soda water more than 25 per cent in two years, according to the Department of Commerce.

In 1923 production of soda water apparatus amounted to $23,359,851.

The VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION

© 1926 by G P PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

In Harbor Gardens, Long Island, in an elaborte bungalow, lived PERRY HEATH and his wife, MYRA.

At the time the story opens the Heaths were entertaining as house guests:

LAWRENCE INMAN, a distant relative of Myra's and, aside from Perry, the only heir to her considerable fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, young, vivacious, golden-haired, an old friend of Myra's.

Myra Heath was a peculiar woman. She was cold, sarcastic. She did not love her husband, but seemed enamored of Inman. She never used cosmetics or dressed in colors. In fact, her hatred of color amounted to a passion. She collected rare old bottles and her latest was a whisky bottle which she was quite proud of but which aroused her artistic husband to scorn.

There is a growing intimacy between Perry Heath and Bunny. Myra, becoming provoked, declares that she has made her will in favor of Inman, cutting Perry off.

That night, after Bunny and Inman retire, Myra Heath alludes mysteriously to Perry's "secret." When Perry goes to bed Inman comes down stairs, and he and Myra are discovered in each other's arms later by Perry.

The next morning, Mrs. Prentiss, who lives next door, was telling her nephew, Todhunter Buck, of some mysterious lights she had seen the night before in the Heath bungalow. While they are talking a loud scream from the Heath home interrupts their conversation.

That night Perry Heath, stealing downstairs, discovers his wife in Inman's arms and orders the latter out of the house by morning.

The next day the body of Myra Heath is found in the studio by a servant. A candle is burning at her head and feet, there is a big cut in her head and, strangest of all, her face is made up with cosmetics and she is dressed in outlandish colors.

HERRICK, the butler, after calling the doctor, steals some money from a drawer near the body and then discovers, at Myra's feet, a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath."

The doctor, when he comes, finds that the death blow was struck with Myra's cherished whisky bottle. It is discovered then that Perry Heath is gone, his bed unslept in.

She has been killed by a blow with her cherished whisky bottle. When the coroner comes, Inman and Bunny are strangely nervous when made to answer questions. Meanwhile, at the Country Club the murder is the topic of conversation among SAM ANDERSON, AL CUNNINGHAM and others. MRS. PRENTISS, towing her nephew, TODHUNTER BUCK, goes over to the Heaths and invites Bunny to stay at her house next door. Bunny breaks out crying and Buck, at sight of her beauty, is her slave.

Mrs. Prentiss relates having seen mysterious lights appear and disappear, the night before, in the Heath home, and at the inquest testimony brings out the fact that Bunny Moore knew of the murder before the maid, who went to her room to inform her.

Finger prints of Inman and Bunny Moore are found on the bottle, and the coroner declares his belief that the murderer will be found in the household. Inman relates having seen a vanity case near the body, but that has disappeared. Physicians declare the rouge was applied to Myra Heath's face after death.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the mystery, and others, some believing Perry Heath the murderer, others disagreeing. Cunningham suspects Bunny Moore is concealing something, calls on Mrs. Prentiss.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI.

Now, Al Cunningham was not an Adonis for looks, but he had an ingratiating way with him, which, added to a discreetly flattering tongue, sometimes made astonishing inroads on the confidence of middle aged or elderly ladies.

He pased the Heath house, and beaming his most debonair smile, he deliberately walked up the garden path and up a few steps of the porch of Mrs. Prentiss.

Toddy Buck looked around in surprise, then rose, to greet a supposed friend of his aunt.

But Mrs. Prentiss showed no recognition of the caller, and Cunningham, taking all on one bold move, held out his hand to her, as he said, "You'll forgive me, I know, when you hear what I've called about."

His smile faded and gave way to a mysterious air, and his lowered voice promised thrilling revelations.

Emily Prentiss couldn't resist this, and she graciously bowed and pointed to a nearby chair.

Cunningham, thus encouraged, tactily, took Todhunter Buck also into his confidence, and began by saying:

"I'm Al Cunningham, a Gardens man, of course, and I saw you two at the inquest this afternoon. Mrs. Prentiss, I felt sure that you knew something about the affair but as you were not called upon, you couldn't—or didn't tell it."

"Well, I declare!" cried the astonished woman. "Now however did you guess that? Here I was just discussing with my nephew whether or no I ought to tell somebody, and along you come! It's just providential, that's what it is! You a detective, Mr. Cunningham?"

"Well, I am, but not a profesional one. As a matter of fact, I'm a rank amateur, but I'm working in the interests of the Country Club. Mr. Heath was a member you know, and some of the men think they ought to look into the matter of his strange disappearance. And they've put the work rather more or less into my hands. So, as I said, I have a hunch you know something—oh, I beg your pardon, forgive the slang!"

"No harm at all," Mrs. Prentiss beamed on him. "My nephew here, uses the most atrocious slang, so I'm used to it. Well sir, your hunch is a right one. I do know something, though whether it's of any account or not, I can't say. But seeing you are what you are, I don't see why I shouldn't tell you. In fact, I'd have told it before if I'd known who to tell. I don't altogether cotton to the police. They're so high and mighty, and they can take what you tell 'em, and then twist it all out of kilter until it's no use to them or anybody else."

"That's so, Mrs. Prentiss," Cunningham's voice was deeply sympathetic. "Now, if you care to tell me, I'll promise you the information will not be wasted."

"All right, I'll tell."

Whereupon, Mrs. Prentiss detailed anew her watch of the night before. She told accurately and just as she had told her nephew at breakfast of the strange appearances, disappearances and reappearances of lights in the Heath studio.

"It is a most interesting story," Cunningham said, when she had finished. "And I am sure it is of the utmost importance. Were it only concerning the main lights of the room, it would not be so peculiar, but the appearance of the two small sparks which were doubtless the candles left there, makes it all a strong piece of evidence, which, however, needs straightening out and unraveling to get its meaning. Let us try, Mrs. Prentiss, to reconstruct the happenings. Keep check on me and tell me if I go wrong. Now, say the complete darkness at half-past eleven meant the family and servants had all retired.

"Yes, that's propably right."

"Well, then say, that when a dim light appeared perhaps half an hour later, some one came downstairs on a trifling errand,—for a book, or cigarets or some such thing."

"Yes,—though that isn't very definite."

"Ah, you though I would be one of those detectives who could deduce a man with a hooked nose and Vandyke beard, with a slight limp and a cast in his left eye!"

Mrs. Prentiss laughed, appreciating the banter.

"Well, go on," she said.

"Well, the indefinite prowler came downstairs, snapped on a small ligh', maybe a desk light,—that wasn't the candle, was it?"

"No, I recollect the effect clearly. It was doubtless, as you suggest, a small desk light or reading lamp."

"Then, in a few moments comes another person, who flashes on the full lights of the room."

"Of course, though, it need not have been another person. It may well have been the first, the indefinite person, still hunting what he came after."

"Right! You are a born detective, Mrs. Prentiss! Well, anyhow, that big light stayed on till about one o'clock. That right?"

"Yes, as near as I remember the hours. Then the candles showed."

"Yes, and it was during the time of that big light,—between twelve and one o'clock, that Mrs. Heath was killed. Or, at least, that's the way I see it. For the candles were, in all probability, put in place to represent funeral candles. Now that must have been done after the lady was dead. Then, having arranged things to his satisfaction, the murderer snapped off the big light, and left the room, whether he left the house or not."

"But there were more lights on and off after that."

"That is the most important of all. If my belief is the truth, that the crime was committed just before the candles were lighted, then whoever came into that room afterward, saw the candles, saw the dead woman, and has so far, kept quiet about it."

Platte Purchase Made 90 Years Ago

Friday Marked the Anniversary of Treaty With Indians. —Nodaway County a Part.

The Platte Purchase was ninety years old Friday, for it was the ninetieth anniversary of the treaty whereby the territory, comprising what is now Andrew, Atchison, Buchanan, Holt, Nodaway and Platte counties was thrown open to settlement. The treaty with the Indians was signed Sept. 17, 1836, at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The Indian tribes signatory to the treaty were the Ioways, and the Sacs and Foxes, while William Clark, as superintendent of affairs, signed for the federal government.

The individual signers of the treaty, whereby the aborigines surrendered "all right title and interest, of whatever nature, in and to the land lying between the state of Missouri and the Missouri River, were: Ioways—Mo-Hos-Ca (White Cloud), Mau-Che-Ning (No Heart), Wa-Che-Mo-Ne (the Orator), Ne-O-Mo-Ne (Raining Cloud), Ne-Wan-Thaw-Chu (Hair shedder), Man-Haw-Ka (Bunch of Arrows), Chau-Tau-The-Ne (Big Bull), Man-O-Me-Ne (Pumpkin), Con-Gu (Plum), Wau-Thaw-Ca-Be-Chu (One That Eats Rats), Cha-Tea-Thau (Buffalo Bull), Cha-Ta-Ha-Ra-Wa-Re (Foreign Buffalo).

Sacs and Foxes—Ca-Ha-Qua (Red Fox), Pe-Shaw-Ca (Bear), Pe-Cau-Ma (Deer), Ne-Bosh-Ca-Na (Wolf), Ne-Squi-In-A (Deer), Ne-Saw-Au-Qua (Bear), Qua-Co-Ousi-Si (Wolf), Suqui-La (Deer), As-Ke-Pa-Ke-Ka-As-A (Green Lake), Wa-Pa-Se (Swan), No-Cha-Tau-Wa-Ta-Sa (Star), Can-Ca-Car-Mack (Rock Bass), Sea-Sa-Ho (Sturgeon), Pe-A-Chim-A-Car-Mack (Bald Headed Eagle), Pe-A-Chim-A-Car-Mack Jr. (Baldheaded Eagle).

Witnesses to the signatures: S. W. Kearney, John Dougherty, A. S. Hughes, George R. H. Clark, William Duncan, L. V. Hamilton, H. Robidoux Jr., William Bowman, Jeffrey Dorion Peter Constine, Jacques Mette, Louis M. Davidson.

American Beans Are Divded Into Classes

Washington, Sept. 21.—The latter partner of the well known firm of Pork & Beans, has been the subject of an exhaustive ruling by the Department of Agriculture, concerning the standarization of the lowly edible.

The Department has classified all American beans in 19 classes and fixed grade sizes on all varieties. The classification is a modification of the former regulation of the Department.

Poplar Bluff—An elaborate style show to be held Oct. 7, will be a feature of "Style Week" to be conducted here beginning Oct. 4.

British Judges Paid More Than Americans

All Officers Down To Lowly Police Magistrates Are Highest Paid In World, Survey Shows.

London, Sept. 21.—British judges from the top down to the lowly police magistrate, are the highest paid in the world.

The six "Lords of Appeal in Ordinary"—known as the Law Lords—who hear appeal cases in the House of Lords, get $30,000 a year. Another appeal court known as the "Supreme Court of Judicature," has five judges, each of whom gets $25,000. The Rt. Hon. Lord Hewart, who presides over the "King's Bench Division"—a sort of appellate court—receives $40,000 a year and each of his associates receives $25,000.

Even the metropolitan police magistrates get salaries that are to be despised—namely $7,500 a year.

And all judges get handsome pensions when they retire.

Altogether the courts of justice in Great Britian draw from the treasury for salaries more than $2,000,000 a year.

League of Nations in English Family

London, Sept. 21.—A wealthy English childless couple have just set up their own little "League of Nations."

They have adopted six homeless boys, each of a different nationality, and will raise them in one family. Their ages vary from six months to six years. The orphaned boys, obtained through the National Children Adoption Association, include one English boy, one French child, one from Italy, one Spaniard, one Polish lad and a Swedish boy.

Magnificent Coffin Is Unearthed by Farmer

Peking, Sept. 21.—A poor farmer digging in the dry bed of a river near Tsengchow City was amazed to unearth an ancient coffin of tiles decorated with chariots and warriors in bas relief and containing a number of curios. The farmer reported to the magistrate who sent scholars to view the find.

They declared the coffin a relic of the Chow or Chin Dynasty of 3,000 years ago. On the front of the coffin is an inscription translated to read:

"Drawn and Written by Kuo Kung."

The relics were removed to the district Yemen.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grand-children, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

Reed Irritated by Klan Head's Words

Senator Makes Statement Concerning Endorsement for Presidency by Ku Klux Klan.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 21.—Plainly irritated with his endorsement for the presidency of the United States by Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri has this to say concerning Evans' statement:

"I know nothing about any indorsement by the Ku Klux Klan, except what I have seen in the press. My position is well known. I was born and raised in the Presbyterian church and have no personal interest in the matter. Nevertheless thirty years ago I denounced religious prescriptions when the American Protective Association was in the flood tide of its agitation. I have never varied from the position I then took.

"I regard with abhorrence every attempt to ostracize any man or woman because of race or religion."

Dr. Evans, in speaking at the recent Klan convention in Washington, declared that Reed "is one of our greatest citizens," and said that the senator was "available for the presidency" in 1928.

Marshall—A campaign to raise $16,000 for an extension to the local shoe factory has been inaugurated by the Chamber of Commerce. The proposed new addition would be two stories high.

LOTS OF BUNK IS GIVEN OUT

NOT ALL FIGHT NEWS PRINTED IS THE TRUTH.

BOTH GOOD FELLOWS

Dempsey Not a Hobo and Tunney Not Effiminate Sports Writer Says in Article.

By Henry L. Farrell.
(United Press Sports Editor).

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Since Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney opened the camps in which they trained for the fight here Thursday night that will decide the world's heavyweight champion, a new world's record has been established for the bunk that was sent out to the public.

Tunney was made a victim of more misinformation than Dempsey because Dempsey has been through enough training camp ordeals to know that it is essential to have some privacy.

When Dempsey goes into his cottage after a day's work, only intimate friends that the champion wants to see are permitted to pass the shock troops outside. Mike Trant, Chicago detective sergeant, has been around Dempsey's camps for so many years that he knows without asking the few that wouldn't annoy the champion.

It isn't that Dempsey is clannish or that he wouldn't like to have himself surrounded with friends but he knows that it isn't conductive to rest or peace to listen to a flock of "yes men." The result is that hundreds misinformed stories about what Dempsey does in his private quarters are sent out, what he eats, how he sleeps, what kind of night clothes, he wears, etc.

It will be recalled that stories were printed that Firpo, when he was training for Dempsey, wouldn't sleep on a mattress and that he preferred a bed of rocks. That, of course, was silly but a lot of readers believed it.

Instead of making a cave-man out of Tunney, the other extreme was taken up. From some stories you would pick Tunney as an intellectual sissy. Tunney is a very intelligent young man and he reads some very good books and is not defeated when he opens a book of verse.

But he does not quote poetry in his conversation beyond popular expressions that are used in every day language. He does not use "two dollar" words and his conversation is no more high-browed than Dempsey's. Dempsey uses more slang than Tunney but it is parlor slang and not bar-room wise cracks. Tunney is quoted more often than Dempsey because he talks a lot more than the champion. Dempsey is one of the world's champion listeners and he has picked up a lot by it.

The mistaken idea was broadcast that Tunney was braggard and it went so far that Dempsey told one of his friends—"Let him do the talking. But this thing isn't a debate."

Tunney was amused by the stories of his intellectual leaners and being a pronounced practical joker he would cut loose around a stranger with a lot of words that would cause a dash for a dictionary. It is his way of having a good time and carrying out an act that was forced on him.

"You know Gene don't recite all those poems and when I can understand him it's a cinch he isn't using high brow language. It's good publicity and it's not harming any one," Billy Gibbons, his manager said.

Dempsey and Tunney are just two natural, likeable fellows and for one, the writer, hates to see either one of them lose. Tunney is easier for a stranger to approach because he is naturally affable and Dempsey is naturally retiring and at times almost shy. As far as the writer knows, Dempsey never has been discourteous to a newspaperman and Tunney makes you feel at the first meeting as if he has known you for years. Both of them are sharks on remembering names and faces and the faculty was not cultivated for commercial purposes.

Dempsey is sensitive about allusions to his "hobo days" and Tunney resents too much of a suggestion that he is lady like. Dempsey certainly isn't a hobo and it's quite a cinch that there's nothing effeminate about Tunney.

Two-Gun Tom

Captain Tom R. Hickman of the Texas Rangers has added another feat to his long string of exploits. He happened to be in Clarksville, Tex., when two bandits held up a bank there. They would not halt when he commanded them to, so he shot both to death with one bullet. This photo shows him with his two hand-engraved revolvers, presented to him by admirers.

State Freckle Contest Opens in Calfornia

Tulare, Cal., Sept. 21.—Freckled faced youngsters from all parts of the state were here today to compete in a contest which places a premium on their freckles.

The contest is a feature of the Tulare County Fair, which opened today. Any boy can enter who is under 15 and has at least one freckle.

"Spec" O'Donnell, juvenile film star and king of the fair, will decide the winner.

Announcement of the contest was made before the vacation period started and many boys have spent the summer cultivating their freckles instead of applying lotions to remove them.

King Albert's Speeding Halted by Gendarmes

Brussels, Sept. 21.—King Albert, hurrying to save the Belgian franc, was speeding on his "motorbike" from the royal palace at Laekan to his new "office" in Brussels, at the tidy rate of thirty miles an hour.

Two scandalized gendarmes trapped him and brought the impatient monarch to a stop. They demanded his driver's permit which he promptly produced. It was made out to "Albert of Belgium."

Tableau! Profuse apologies. But the King shook hands with them and insisted it was all right.

"You were only doing your duty," he said, "and now I will do mine,—I am a little late for my work."

And he started his motorcycle and sped off.

The gendarmes turned their backs.

De Soto—An athletic association has been formed here by members of Company H, 140th infantry, the local unit of the National Guards.

Union—A large basket picnic was a feature of the fifth annual convention of the Women's Progressive Farmers' Association held here.

Rolla—A new hotel for Rolla now is definitely assured, following announcement that stock subscriptions for the new hostelry had all been secured. Contracts are expected to be signed shortly.

CLOSING GRAIN REVIEW.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The unexpected break of wheat carried all grains to a close well above that of yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

The major grain closed 2½ to 2⅝ cents higher in all positions. There was heavy selling on the bulges, but it failed to effect the trend of prices.

Export sales were placed at a half-million bushels of domestic grain. Cash values were 1 to 1½ cents higher.

Corn was under more or less pressure all day, not having the strength to resist selling. Much old grain came in and crop and weather news was bearish, yet the futures closed ⅛ to ½ cent up.

Provisions closed lower because of liquidation in lard and decline in hog values.

FIRST GAME IS ADVANCED

BEARCATS TO MEET MISSOURI WESLEYAN ON OCTOBER 1.

ST. BENEDICT'S NOV. 5

Two-Year Contract Is Signed Between S. T. C. And Kansas School—Team Prospects Bright.

Changes in the State Teachers College football schedule resulted from a meeting of the committee on intercollegiate athletics at the College at 9 o'clock this morning. The first game of the season, with Missouri Wesleyan College of Cameron at St. Joseph, was moved to October 1 from October 2. This was done after it was found that both St. Joseph authorities and those of Missouri Wesleyan had misunderstood the date.

An open date on the schedule on November 5 was filled by the committee with the acceptance of a two-year contract with St. Benedict's College at Atchison, Kan. The first game of the series will be played here, and next year the Bearcats will go to the Kansas town.

There now remain two open dates on the College schedule. It is understood that the one on October 9 will be filled within a few days, but present plans indicate that November 19 will remain open.

Scrimmage Held Daily.

With a husky squad of some forty green-jersied gridsters working daily on the College field, the chances for a winning Bearcat team seem good. The men of Coaches Lawrence and Jones have now passed out of the preliminary and conditioning work and are at football in its toughest earnestness. An almost daily scrimmage is livening up the practice period for both players and spectators.

Yesterday the Bearcat coaches sent two teams against one another. They shifted men from one team to another and it is evident that choosing the best eleven men will be a problem.

After the teams had been scrimmaging some time yesterday, Coach Lawrence remarked that he did not intend to use any certain combination of four men in his backfield this year. All of which means that there is not going to be a dearth of ball luggers.

All of the men are looking good in practice. With eleven letter men back this year to form the nucleus of his eleven, Coach Lawrence is not in hot water. In fact there is a strong probability that several new men will be found in the line-up and that wearers of the M may decorate the bench in more than one instance.

Miller Into Backfield.

The coaches have been shifting their men about a great deal. For example, Harold Miller, who played end regularly last year is being mentioned as a backfield possibility this fall, and as such the coaches have been using him.

Graham seems slated to hold down his center position again this year, but Stitt has been working in the pivotal position in several practices. Cox and Fouts look good as guards, as does "Fat" Lewis. And there are Hartman and Hollar and several others who will be seen in the forward wall.

It is likely that "Red" Berst will hold down one end, but his running mate is yet unknown.

In the backfield Lawrence has been working so many men that a guess is hardly fair. Captain Eads appears certain of a position, and Willoughby, Wilson, Miller and O'Banion are also looking good.

Today the Bearcats had a little bit of the same as yesterday, and tomorrow's football menu predicts some more of ditto.

Proposed New Tunnel Joins Spain and Africa

London, Sept. 21.—A vision of Londoners traveling to Capetown direct from Calais is conjured up by Spain's renewed interest in a proposal to dig a tunnel under the straits of Gibralter 16 miles long. Coupled with the ever-recurring plan to tunnel the channel, this link between Europe and Africa may make it possible for Englishmen to step into a train at London and ride through without a change of cars to Capetown.

Under Primo de Rivera, the Spanish dictator, the plan to dig under the Gibraltar Straits is reported to have entered the domain of actual possibilities. First seriously considered in 1918, the proposal was put aside on account of Spain's difficulties with Abd El-Krim in Morocco, but with that trouble settled, the plan is again being considered.
